

Catholic Healthcare West Community Need Index (CNI) Miami-Dade County

Source: Catholic Healthcare West (CHW)

The Community Need Index (CNI) identifies the severity of health disparity in a zip code, considering multiple factors that limit health care access, accounting for the underlying economic and structural barriers that affect overall health. CHW has identified five prominent barriers that enable one to quantify health care access in communities across the nation, including those related to income, culture/language, education, insurance, and housing.

For more information about CNI click here to download the CNI Report, including complete definitions of these barriers and their associated research citations.

